Murderer Makes Three Attempts Before He Succeeds In Committing Self Destruction —Uses a 12-Gauge Winchester Shotgun to Kill Woman

Two Ellsworth residents are dead, a man and woman, as a result of a sensational shooting affray which occurred Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the victims, in Church street. They are:

MRS. JULIA BICHKUS, wife of James Bichkus, shot through the stomach, alleged by John Ambrosy, the charge passing through the body and coming out just above the heart.

JOHN AMBROSY, aged 35, a miner, employed by the Bethlehem Mines Corporation of Ellsworth, committed suicide after three attempts to inflict the fatal blow.

The shooting affray is one of the most brutal and blood-curdling tragedies that has occurred in this vicinity since the Crouch family was murdered in their home on the Washington road by William West several years ago.

According to the story told by neighbors and friends, Ambrosy, who has been a boarder in the Bichkus home for the past three years, had been drinking considerably for a number of days and on Friday evening, the night before the tragedy, he quarreled with Mrs. Bichkus relative to getting another boarding house. However, it is not known whether or not this was the real cause for the crime. The following day, drinking excessively, it is said that Ambrosy made the remark that he would be dead before long, or words to that effect. After leaving the house for a

MRS. J. L. SHARP DEAD OF PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Irene Lewis Sharp, aged 28 years, wife of James Sharp, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter [illegible] avenue, died at the home of her parents last night at 10:15 o'clock. Death was due to pneumonia, from which Mrs. Sharp has suffered for several days.

The deceased was one of the best known and highly respected young women of the town and her death comes as a great shock to the entire community. She was born in Bedford, Pa., June 30, 1896. Twenty-five years ago the family moved to Charleroi, where they have resided since. Mrs. Sharp entered the Charleroi schools and graduated from the local high school with the class of 1915. She was a devoted member of the Christ Lutheran church and president of the Pollyanna society of that church. In June 1917, she was united in marriage with James Sharp of Charleroi and to this union two children were born, James and Donald, the latter being a victim of diphtheria on March 7, 1924.

Besides her husband and parents, the deceased is survived by one son James, and one sister, Miss Velma. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of her parents, in charge of Rev. Dr. C. B. King, pastor of the Lutheran church. Explosion of Gasoline at Webster, Early This Morning, Does $15,000 Damage--Six Families Rendered Homeless

Six families were made homeless and damage estimated at $15,000 was caused at an early hour this morning by fire, which for a time threatened the entire village of Webster. The flames originated from an explosion of gasoline in the garage of John Tompko, located at the lower end of Webster, adjoining the soccer grounds.

Tompko was working on his car, a Chevrolet Sedan, shortly after 12 o'clock with an open light which he had on the floor. Accidentally knocking it over, flames quickly spread on the gasoline soaked floor to a barrel of gasoline, that he had rescued from the swollen waters of the river during the flood stage a week ago. An explosion occurred forcing Tompki to make a quick retreat. The garage was instantly a mass of flames, spreading to the adjoining residence, a two story frame double building occupied on one side by the Tompko family and on the other by James Prentice, Sr. The heat was so in- [illegible] that the families were unable to secure any articles of their household goods.

The borough of Webster having no fire fighting facilities, they put in an alarm to Donora; its fire department responded at once. Water was unavailable on account of the steep em- [illegible] bankment at that point on the river shore, and the flames spread to another double house, occupied by four families, James Prentice, Jr., Arthur Milhem, Joseph Johnson and John Forbes. The fire department of Monessen was then called and with the aid of chemicals this department together with Donora, succeeded in pre- [illegible] ther. The house of Streiber Bremer ignited several times, but the flames were immediately extinguished by chemicals. The two double houses which were completely destroyed were the property of S. A. Barnum. The flames were extinguished at 3 o'clock [illegible].

Pete Maronich, a miner, 28 years old, of Ontario mine, married, with a wife and two children, stabbed in the back and left side by a stiletto at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon; Fritz Zie, aged 33 years, a miner, of Weaver, married, with a wife and four children, shot through the right side, the ball passing through the heart and lodging in his back, both dead; and Steve Stanlock in the hospital at Washington, shot through the upper portion of the left lung, and condition serious, is the sequel to a sensational quarrel, general fight and sensational fatal shooting affray occurring yesterday afternoon at House No. 74, Weaver. The fight and the fatal results which followed are said to have been brought about through a quarrel over a girl. Pete Melovich, 35 years old, of Warren mine, suspected of being one of the two men doing the shooting and stabbing, was caught by Acting Chief of Police Frank Galloway of Bentleyville, after he had fired at him in passing over the hill at James schoolhouse, Bentleyville the ball passing through the fleshy part of his right arm; and Galedine Guiseppi, another suspect in the double murder, was arrested last night by the police of Monongahela, and is being held by them.

The bodies of Maronich and Zie were taken in charge by Coroner William Greenlee, and later turned over to J. V. McDonough, undertaker, of Beallsville.

A petition presented by Niss Nesbit to intervene in the state and oppose Thow's release on behalf of her son, Russell, was granted when the trial opened in the court of Common pleas. Neither Evelyn nor Mrs. Thaw, Harry's mother, were in the court room when the case was called.

C., where she was a delegate to the Pi Beta Phi fraternity of the University of Michigan, to an eastern conference, held there last week. Work Begins On Bad Bit Of Highway

The many Charleroi autoists and those in the vicinity will welcome the glad news announced this morning that work on what is known as the worst stretch of road in this section was started this morning. Phil Derienzo of Fayette City, began the preliminary work of tearing up the old foundation of the road on the north end of Fayette City borough, a stretch of road about fifteen hundred feet long and wellknown to all autoists. The cost of the repair will fall on the borough, county and state.

For the present the road will be open for all travel, but when the road is closed announcement will be made of a suitable detour. The use of the ferry from Allenport will probably be the detour used at that time.

GIRL, CLEVER; BANDIT CAUGHT

Cleverness and courage displayed by Miss Anna Cairns, aged 18, of Cecil, resulted in the arrest in Pittsburgh on Saturday of Fred Antavitas, aged 23, of Cecil, on a charge of being the man who staged a series of bold lone-handed holdups last Friday night in Cecil township.

Antaavitas was taken to the Washington county jail late Saturday and is being held to face charges growing out of a series of highway robberies in which it is believed he was implicated.

Five or six miners at the National Mine No. 3 in Cecil township are alleged to have been held up by Antavitas. He is thought to have secured from $150 to $300, getting from $30 to $40 from each of his victims. Earl

MANY MINERS OUT OF WORK

Many large coal mines in the valley are idle or have received notice to discontinue operations indefinitely due to a great stock of bituminous or soft coal at the principal eastern and great lakes distributing centers. Several mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in the immediate district of Monongahela, have been idle for a number of weeks, and hundreds of miners are minus employment with prospects remote for their resuming this month.

Last week the Black Diamond mine did not work, and Satsburg mine, both opened by the Pittsburgh Coal company, missed several days. Monrah mine was idle Saturday and Monday of last week, and worked only part of the time the balance of the week. Gallatin mine closed last Monday, and will be idle for several weeks. Authorities and superintendents at other large mines of the Pittsburg Coal company have received notice to close down this week.

Catsburg mine, in West ward, Monongahela, employing about 300 men, will be shut down this week. National No. 4, Star, Soudan at Van Voorhis, and the branch mines of the Bethlehem Mines corporation, are about the only large mines in the section of Monongahela which are operating regularly.

Don't Weary; Plenty Of This Avenue

Pittsburgh, April 14. — (United Press).—If you are in Pittsburgh and looking for a certain number on Highland avenue, and find it, then learn the party you want doesn't live at that address, don't be discouraged.

There are seven different Highland Avenues in the city and you have six more chances to locate your party.

And that is one of the reasons so much mail goes astray here, according to Postmaster Gosser, who has asked city council to rename many streets so as to avoid confusion.

"We have just completed a list of 30 closely typewritten pages of names of streets, all of which are duplications," Gosser told council. Council has promised action.

Lock No 4 Man Passes At The Local Hospital

John Corbley Baker, who was born May 17, 1856, and a resident of North Charleroi for a period of 23 years, died at the Charleroi-Monessen hospital yesterday morning, his passing being due to a complication of diseases.

Decedent was a son of William and Johanna Baker of Beallsville. In the year 1880, date November 8, he was united in marriage to Miss Isabelle Yorty, whose death occurred two years ago. There survive his two daughters, Mrs. Walter Stewart, North Charleroi; Mrs. R. G. Staley, Trafford, Pa., two brothers, James Baker, Beallsville, and W. H. Baker, Centerville, Pa.

Mr. Baker was a member of the Carpenters' Union and the Loyal Order of Moose. His last illness was of but few days' duration.

Funeral services will be held at the late residence of the deceased on Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. John R. Burson, erstwhile pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church officiating, with interment in the Beallsville cemetery.

ROUTINE OF THE COURTS

Samuel H. McPherson, of Cecil township, is plaintiff in a suit filed against A. G. Huffman, of Washington, in which he seeks to recover $2,500 damages for personal injuries and for almost the complete wrecking of an Oldsmobile car in an accident on the Country Club road at the curve near the Craft school house on February 8 last.

The defendant is charged with reckless driving and wit hnegligence in attempting to pass, at a high rate of speed on that curve, a truck that was going in the same direction. Mr. McPherson alleges he was driving on his right side of the road when the defendant came around the truck on the same side of the road as Mr. McPherson.

The plaintiff, he avers, in order to avoid a headon collision with Huffman's car, put on his brakes quickly. As he did so the machine skidded into the truck. The consequence was that Mr. McPherson was cut about the head, the ligaments and muscles of his arm were wrenched and bruised, he was cut on the leg, and otherwise so badly hurt, he avers, that he has not yet fully recovered from his injuries.

His machine was almost a wreck. The body was twisted and bent, rear axle bent, differential jammed and broken, running board almost torn off, and the car put in such condition that it could not be repaired.

Dorothy McKeever, of Monongahela, has filed a suit against Frank McKeever, in which she seeks to re- [illegible] the support of her infant child. The defendant, it is set out, was to pay her $25 a month for this child's support. He has paid to her $17 for four months, and she says he has refused to pay her any more money.

An Expert Stirs Interest In Raising Of Poultry In County

L. W. Steelman, poultry extension specialist, Pennsylvania State college, held a successful series of meetings in the county Thursday and Friday, April 10 and 11. The subject discussed was the hatching and raising of chicks. About 45 poultry raisers attended the four meetings.

"The most common mistake made by poultry raisers," said Mr. Steelman, "is they feed their chicks too soon. A young chick contains enough food within its own body when hatched to nourish it for 60 to 72 hours. It is much better to feed nothing for the first 48 hours except possibly some milk. Care should be taken, however, to see that milk is always of the same quality. Sweet milk, sour milk or buttermilk are equally good if the same kind is kept before them at all times. Perhaps the first grain fed should be oats, either pinhead oats, oatmeal or rolled oats. Chicks should also have grit. Care must be taken to see that they do not eat [illegible] week wheat bran may be kept before the chicks at all times, supplemented with scratch feed and milk.

"Many good mashes and scratch feeds are on the market which will give excellent results."

Interest in poultry raising in Washington county continues to increase. Many farmers and others are preparing to raise flocks of 100 to 500 hens for the first time.

MONESSEN STUDENTS VISIT IN CHARLEROI

Saturday afternoon a group of Monessen High School students, the majority of whom were Seniors, 32 in number and accompanied by Prof. R. W. Honsberger, teacher in chemistry and basket-ball coach, paid a visit to Charleroi and made a tour of the Charleroi Water Works and the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy company. After making an interesting inspection of the water works under the guidance of Chester C. Humphries chemist, they repaired to the ice cream plant, where they were shown the entire process of the manufacture of the frozen desert by Manager Lloyd G. Wagner and James S. Wagner. Each student was given a small brick of ice cream and they returned to Monessen feeling that they had spent a most enjoyable and profitable afternoon.

Work has been started on three of the dozen homes that it is said are to be built this season. The foundation was built last fall for the Chalfant-Phillips house, which is to be a double dwelling of pressed brick; R. H. Livinood, who has the contract for erecting the Wylie Ayres house, expects to have the foundation complete in a few days. Elmer Carlisle has broken ground for a new home near residence of his father, Joseph Carlisle, J. S. Peets, of Houston, being the contractor. Other building plans are known to be under advisement, the late spring having a tendency to retard the commencement of actual work.

Hickory has been short of houses for several years, and with the Vocational school constantly growing, and with electricity available for light and power, it is believed that this residence town will enjoy considerable growth in the next few years.

CHILD LABOR REGULATION.

Wonder is expressed that, apart from interested commercialism, there should be any opposition to federal regulation of child labor. Perhaps there would not be any to speak of were not a constitutional amendment called for. Great numbers of the people have grown restive under Federal laws buttressed rock ribbed and rendered as unchangeable as the statutes of the Medes and Persians by previous constitutional amendments. They want laws that can be changed or modified at need and are loath to surrender the people's right well knowing that to vote a constitutional amendment under our system practically amounts to such surrender, and that now and proposition to modify a law buttressed by a constitutional amendment is met with the cry of "treason to the Constitution."

Having offered this explanation of the opposition to a constitutional amendment regulating child labor, it remains to be said that greater uniformity in child labor restriction throughout the country is highly desirable. It seems that nine states have no laws prohibiting children under 14 years of age from working full hours in factories and mines; that 24 states having such laws weaken them by permitting exceptions under local authority; that 35 states permit children to begin work without a common school education; and that 19 states pay no attention to physical condition of children, permitting weaklings to work beyond their strength. It is asserted, moreover, that from 11 to 14 states permit children to work unlimited hours day or night. If such indeed are the conditions, it is obvious that a multitude of little victims are in need of rescue.

THE OFFICE CAT

Girls, let your sub conscious be your guide.

We don't see why it wouldn't be ethical for a barber to charge a man with a double chin two prices for shaving him.

Anyhow the foolish virgins who neglected to fill their lamps with oil had nothing to fear from the senate investigating committee.

Next comes the radio censor. A woman correspondent says if what is broadcast isn't censored by good, moral people, the air won't be fit to breathe.

Gladys says a man's ideal woman is the one he couldn't get.

Every family should have enough chairs to sit in while the best ones are pinch-hitting as wardrobes.

Learn the luxury of doing good.

A circle is a round straight line with a hole in it.

We are certainly sorry to observe that American girls are taking to the pipe. A pipe leaves such a bad taste on the lips.

"I've been reading a good deal about this 'ere new game of Mah-Jongg," said old Ragson Tatters. "And according to the papers it has got such a hold in the cities that some people stay up till all hours of the night to play it."

"H'm!" musingly replied the proprietor of the Right Place store. "Must be considerable like checkers."

Gladys has been reading about financial institutions of the east who have recently been discovered with frozen assets and she is of the opinion that they had better put alcohol into the ones that have not been frozen yet or else drain the water out of the capital stock before another cold wave comes along.

A marriage ceremony should specify: "Man and wife shall hereafter be known as the party of the second part and the party of the worst part."

Has anyone ever noticed that the best way to go to sleep is to try to stay awake.

Girls, like opportunities, are all the same to you after being embraced.

It must be great to be an oyster. Oysters get four months vacation.

Isn't it wondrous strange that every time a woman's hair gets all out of crimp, some dear lady friend will ask her if her hair isn't naturally curly.

Three of our beautiful words are: "It's a check."

TWO PEOPLE DEAD SHOOTING AFFRAY

short time, he returned at 8 o'clock and rapped on the kitchen door. Mrs. Bichkus answered the knock and when she opened the door Ambrosy fired at her with a 12-gauge Winchester shotgun, killing her instantly.

After completing this part of his gruesome plan the murderer then placed the muzzle of the gun under his chin and pulled the trigger, dislodging his mouth, tongue and left cheek. The bullet lodged in the ceiling of the porch.

The man then walked or ran through the yard, climbed over the fence into the cemetery of St. Luke's Catholic church, a distance of about 150 yards from where he committed the murder. He sat down on the ground, removed his shoes and stocking from his right foot, placed the muzzle of the gun against his stomach and pulled the trigger with his toe. The bullet passed through his body and came out just over his left kidney. Failing once more to kill himself, he reloaded his gun and placed the muzzle just below the pit of his stomach. This time the charge took an upward course, lodging in his heart and left lung, killing him instantly.

A trail of blood could be traced from the back porch of the home through the yard, on the fence and tombstones in the cemetery, and the course of the man was easily followed. Two empty shells were found in the yard by the porch and two empty and one loaded shell on the ground near his body, while one loaded shell was in the chamber of the gun, thus proving that he had placed five shells in the magazine and one in the chamber of the gun with the intention of murdering the woman and then committing suicide.

A searching party composed of Ray Grubb, Walter Snyder and Guy Pusas led by acting Chief of Police. Frank Galloway located the murderer about 9:30 o'clock

Mrs. Bichkus is survived by her husband, James Bichkus, who is crippled, having lost his right leg in an accident in the mine a number of years ago, and who has been employed at Ellsworth for the past 24 years; three children, Stanley aged 9, Josephine 7, and Uhana 6; one sister, Mary Dedronas of Bentleyville, and a brother in Boston, and a sister in Chicago.

Ambrosy is survived by three brothers, Frank and Stanley of Bentleyville, and William of Beallsville.

Coroner William Greenlee took charge of the bodies and later turned them over to J. V. McDonough to be prepared for burial.

Funeral services for Ambrosy will be held at the funeral parlors of J. V. McDonough at Beallsville at 4 p. m. today, with interment in Beallsville cemetery.

TWO MOTHERS FIGHTING FOR BOYS—THAW CASE

Philadelphia, April 14—Against the sordid background of theThaw case, begins today a battle of that most potent of human emotions—mother love. Two mothers are fighting for their boys.

The one, Mrs. Mary Thaw, grey and bowed with her 83 years, seeks release of her son, Harry K. Thaw, from the "Kirkbride's" asylum, where he had been incarcerated for seven years.

The other, Evelyn Nesbit, opposes freedom of the man who once was her husband, on the grounds that his release will imperil the rihtful heritage of her son, Russell William Thaw, now a 15-year-old student at Friends' School at Atlantic City.

A court fight to free Harry Thaw and declare him sane will start before Justice Monahan, and a jury at 10 a. m.

Thaw's attorneys and those of his aged mother who wants the boy that has brought her so much sorrow back with her for her few remaining years, [illegible] claim that the treatment the millionaire has received at the Pennsylvania Hospital has cured him of the mental affliction which led to his attack upon Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, on Christmas Day, 1916. It was following his attempted suicide after this affair that Thaw was adjudged insane.

Into the legal proceedings surrounding the present move for Thaw's release, Evelyn Nesbit, known now to the world as a cabaret proprietor at Atlantic City, hurlel her bombshell.

"Harry Thaw must not be freed," she declared, and those whose duty it is to prove the release have accepted her intervention. "It is not for myself I speak," Evelyn said. "I can make by way; scrub floors, if necessary. It's for the boy, my boy, Harry's boy, Russell. Harry is insane, and he mustn't be allowed freedom to squander Russell's rightful heritage. He mustn't be free, because if he is, within six months the world will be shocked by another terrible tragedy such as those in which Harry's previous insanity drove him."—By Frank Getty, United Press Staff correspondent.

"BUCK IS PASSED" TO THE SENATE

Washington, April 14—(United Press)—The Republican majority conference called today to plan the legislative program regarding immigration, taxes and bonus, dodged everyone of the major questions and "passed the buck" to the senate in the Finance committee.

When the conference failed to express as to when the bonus or tax bill should come first before the senate, Chairman Smoot called a meeting of his finance committee to decide later into which bill should be given the right of way.

Engle, aged 16, of Cecil township, came upon Antavitas as he was holding up one man. He yelled and the bandit ran. Young Engle went home, secured a shotgun and took up the chase. Antavitas escaped and made his way to Pittsburgh. Miss Cairns' story of how she effected his capture follows:

"I am employed as a cashier in a downtown department store, and commute between Pittsburgh and Cecil, where I live. This morning (Saturday) when I boarded my train for Pittsburgh I noticed that Antavitas also got on the train. Workmen of the National No. 3 mine of the H. C. Frick Coal company, near Cecil, had been held up and robbed of more than $500 Friday night, and one of the men had been shot.

"My brother was one of those robbed, and he had told me that he suspected Antavitas was one of the robbers because of the man's past record. Therefore, when I saw him on the train determined to follow him.

"I was with two friends, Miss Sarah Nelson and Miss Evaline Morgan. When we alighted at the Wabash station, I told my friends to look for a policeman, but while we were waiting for the elevator I edged up to Antavatis, who was standing near the door, and read an imaginary account of the robbery from a paper I had and pretended that the newspaper account stated that Antavatis was under suspicion. When he heard his name he gave a sudden start and looked at me suspiciously, and when the elevator stopped he darted quickly in it.

"Miss Morgan and I pushed our way into the crowded lift, and when we arrived on the ground floor I ran out into Diamond street and met Motorcycle Patrolman George Geyer and William Warnick. I told them my story and they arrested the man just as he was leaving the station.

"No, I wasn't afraid of him, declared the pretty detective; "I just [illegible] all."

TWO MOTHERS FIGHTING FOR BOYS—THAW CASE

Philadelphia, April 14—Against the sordid background of theThaw case, begins today a battle of that most potent of human emotions—mother love. Two mothers are fighting for their boys.

The one, Mrs. Mary Thaw, grey and bowed with her 83 years, seeks release of her son, Harry K. Thaw, from the "Kirkbride's" asylum, where he had been incarcerated for seven years.

The other, Evelyn Nesbit, opposes freedom of the man who once was her husband, on the grounds that his release will imperil the rihtful heritage of her son, Russell William Thaw, now a 15-year-old student at Friends' School at Atlantic City.

A court fight to free Harry Thaw and declare him sane will start before Justice Monahan, and a jury at 10 a. m.

Thaw's attorneys and those of his aged mother who wants the boy that has brought her so much sorrow back with her for her few remaining years, [illegible] claim that the treatment the millionaire has received at the Pennsylvania Hospital has cured him of the mental affliction which led to his attack upon Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, on Christmas Day, 1916. It was following his attempted suicide after this affair that Thaw was adjudged insane.

Into the legal proceedings surrounding the present move for Thaw's release, Evelyn Nesbit, known now to the world as a cabaret proprietor at Atlantic City, hurlel her bombshell.

"Harry Thaw must not be freed," she declared, and those whose duty it is to prove the release have accepted her intervention. "It is not for myself I speak," Evelyn said. "I can make by way; scrub floors, if necessary. It's for the boy, my boy, Harry's boy, Russell. Harry is insane, and he mustn't be allowed freedom to squander Russell's rightful heritage. He mustn't be free, because if he is, within six months the world will be shocked by another terrible tragedy such as those in which Harry's previous insanity drove him."—By Frank Getty, United Press Staff correspondent.

"BUCK IS PASSED" TO THE SENATE

Washington, April 14—(United Press)—The Republican majority conference called today to plan the legislative program regarding immigration, taxes and bonus, dodged everyone of the major questions and "passed the buck" to the senate in the Finance committee.

When the conference failed to express as to when the bonus or tax bill should come first before the senate, Chairman Smoot called a meeting of his finance committee to decide later into which bill should be given the right of way.

Engle, aged 16, of Cecil township, came upon Antavitas as he was holding up one man. He yelled and the bandit ran. Young Engle went home, secured a shotgun and took up the chase. Antavitas escaped and made his way to Pittsburgh. Miss Cairns' story of how she effected his capture follows:

"I am employed as a cashier in a downtown department store, and commute between Pittsburgh and Cecil, where I live. This morning (Saturday) when I boarded my train for Pittsburgh I noticed that Antavitas also got on the train. Workmen of the National No. 3 mine of the H. C. Frick Coal company, near Cecil, had been held up and robbed of more than $500 Friday night, and one of the men had been shot.

"My brother was one of those robbed, and he had told me that he suspected Antavitas was one of the robbers because of the man's past record. Therefore, when I saw him on the train determined to follow him.

"I was with two friends, Miss Sarah Nelson and Miss Evaline Morgan. When we alighted at the Wabash station, I told my friends to look for a policeman, but while we were waiting for the elevator I edged up to Antavatis, who was standing near the door, and read an imaginary account of the robbery from a paper I had and pretended that the newspaper account stated that Antavatis was under suspicion. When he heard his name he gave a sudden start and looked at me suspiciously, and when the elevator stopped he darted quickly in it.

"Miss Morgan and I pushed our way into the crowded lift, and when we arrived on the ground floor I ran out into Diamond street and met Motorcycle Patrolman George Geyer and William Warnick. I told them my story and they arrested the man just as he was leaving the station.

"No, I wasn't afraid of him, declared the pretty detective; "I just [illegible] all."
